COVID-19 EMERGENCY RESPONSE
COLLECTIVE IMPACT SUMMARY
MARCH 2020-AUGUST 2020
Additional emergency and recovery grants, September-December, will be reported on in early 2021.

In March, the fund was launched by the Community Foundation for a greater Richmond, the Emergency Management Alliance of Central Virginia, and PlanRVA. During the initial emergency response phase a total of $2.5 million allocated through 88 grants was quickly deployed to provide critical funding to trusted community-based organizations and public agencies addressing the immediate effects of the pandemic. Together, through collective impact with our partners, over 500,000 community members were supported at the onset of the pandemic.

Given the enormous needs emerging from the convergence of a global pandemic, a depressed economy and systemic racism, all of which result in healthcare disparities, investment into our Region’s safety net and mental health clinics has been critical as they’ve transitioned to telehealth programs and continued critical health services.

- Telehealth Support: $165,000 to nine providers
- 4,857 COVID tests administered
- 100,000+ Personal Protective & Sanitation supplies purchased
- 1.8 million diapers distributed

Emergency Housing grants supported 1,543 individuals and 291 families experiencing homelessness. 5,500 nights of overnight hotel and shelter stays were provided during this critical phase of the pandemic as stay at home orders were enacted.

In Richmond City Public Schools, 3,348 students were provided hotspot access and 16,000 Chromebooks were collectively funded at the onset of virtual learning.

Hopewell Public Schools connected 513 students through 31 mobile hotspots installed on school buses.

In the initial emergency response to the pandemic over 600 children from families containing essential workers were provided childcare. In October the Fund prioritized additional funding to the operations of nonprofit childcare centers.
